

Contents

Acknowledgments xvii

List of Haecceity Illustrations and Figures xviii

PART 1

Introduction

- 1 Theses of Abstraction 13
 - 1.1 Singling Something Out 13
 - 1.2 Singling Out Objects 14
 - 1.3 Particular Identity 19
 - 1.4 Understanding Particular Identity 19
 - 1.5 Artwork Identity and Perceptual Objects 20
 - 1.6 The Notion of an Artistic Complex 20
 - 1.7 Using Essential Elements of an Artistic Complex 20

- 2 The Essential Elements of an Artistic Complex and the Idea of Essentialism or Essentialist Abstraction 22
 - 2.1 Object 22
 - 2.2 Subject 23
 - 2.3 Consciousness: Perceptual and Conceptual Awareness 23
 - 2.4 Agency 25
 - 2.5 Epistemological Relations of Subject to Object: Knowing Which, Knowing That, and Knowing What 26
 - 2.6 Indexicals 27
 - 2.7 Logical Relations of Objects and Consciousness: Phenomenality and Noumenality 28
 - 2.8 History of Awareness and Agency 30
 - 2.9 Cause and Effect and Change 31
 - 2.10 Becoming 32
 - 2.11 Stability and Change in Dependent and Intended Objects 32
 - 2.12 Apprehension and Reapprehension 33
 - 2.13 Identity and Difference 33
 - 2.14 Parts and Wholes 34
 - 2.15 Space and Time 34
 - 2.16 Continuity and Discontinuity and Recurrence and Non-Recurrence 35
 - 2.17 Aesthetically Essential Properties 35

- 3 Radical Identity 37
- 4 Essence and Essentialism 39
- 5 Consciousness 40
 - 5.1 Consciousness is Heterogeneous 40
 - 5.2 Consciousness is Multifarious 40
 - 5.3 Reflexive and Irreflexive Events 41
 - 5.4 Monadic and Polyadic Events 42
 - 5.5 First-Order and Second-Order Events 42
- 6 Objects 44
 - 6.1 Existential and Non-Existential Objects 44
 - 6.2 Phenomenal and Noumenal Objects 47
 - 6.3 Dependent and Independent Objects 48
 - 6.4 Ideational Objects 48
 - 6.5 Identity-Dependent Objects 49
 - 6.6 Type-Dependent Objects 51
- 7 Summary and the Goals and Workings of Essentialism 52

PART 2

Space, Time, Language, and Objects, and Particular Matters of General Relevance to Essentialism

- 8 The Particularity of Objects and the Use of the Term ‘haecceity’ in Regard to Essentialist Artworks 58
 - 8.1 Thisness and Whatness 58
 - 8.2 Whatness and Thisness 59
 - 8.3 The Primacy of Thisness 59
 - 8.4 Haecceity 60
- 9 Space, Language, and the Perceptual Object 63
 - 9.1 Language and Two-Dimensional Space 63
 - 9.2 The Relation of Written Language to Things Beyond its Space 64
 - 9.3 The Figure of Language and its Surrounding Ground 65
 - 9.4 Linear and Circular Language on Stationary Grounds 65
 - 9.5 The Problem of Number and its Solution 66
 - 9.6 The Problem of Distribution and the Solution of it and the Problem of Number in Relation to One Another 67

- 9.7 The Problem of Figure and Ground 70
- 9.8 The Solution of the Problem of Figure and Ground 71
- 9.9 The Problem of Asymmetry 76
- 9.10 The Solution of the Problem of Asymmetry 77
- 9.11 The Simultaneous Solution of the Problems of Number, Distribution, Figure and Ground, and Asymmetry for Linear Language on a Two-Dimensional Surface 77

- 10 Effects of the Algorithm: Visible and Invisible, On and Off the Surface 85
 - 10.1 Matrices in Conceptual Space 85
 - 10.2 Dualities and Identities 88
 - 10.3 Grids and Matrices 89
 - 10.4 The Visual Relation of Matrices to their Surrounding Space 91
 - 10.5 Additional Matters Pertaining to the Use of Matrices 91

- 11 Time and the Perceptual Object 94

- 12 Space, Time, Language, and the Perceptual Object 95

- 13 Meaning, Specification Tokens, and Matrices 99

- 14 Time and the Specified Object 105

- 15 Change and the Perceptual Object 106
 - 15.1 The Standard Case 106
 - 15.2 Possible Sources of Change 107
 - 15.3 Imagined Change 107
 - 15.4 Points of Relevance to Imagined Change 112

- 16 Interpretation 116

- 17 The Delimitation of Logical Space and a Subject's History of Awareness 118
 - 17.1 Objects and Boundaries 118
 - 17.2 Phenomenal Divisions of the Space of Objects and Awareness 121
 - 17.3 Essentialist Delimitations 122
 - 17.4 Awareness and Objects 125
 - 17.5 Language and Abstraction 126

PART 3

Haecceities, Ideational Objects, and Identity

- 18 No Artwork Without an Identity 131
- 19 Traditional Identity in the Visual Arts 132
- 19.1 Art, Physics, and Perception 132
- 19.2 Art, Objects, and Understanding 134
- 19.3 Essentialism and Conceptual Idealism 136
- 19.4 When is Art? When is an Essentialist Artwork? 138
- 20 Essentialism and Identity 139
- 20.1 Ingredients of Identity 142
- 20.2 Identity and Perceptual Objects 143
- 20.3 The Dependence of Ideational Identity on Language 145
- 21 Haecceities* and Ideational Objects 147
- 21.1 Dependent and Independent Identity 150
- 21.2 Identity Dependence, Type Dependence, and Participatory Artworks 154
- 21.3 The Present and Present Understanding 155
- 21.4 Single and Multiple Ideational Objects 156
- 21.5 Past and Present Ideational Objects 157
- 21.6 Essentialist Artworks and Past and Present Ideational Objects 160
- 22 Kinds of Ideational Identity 164
- 22.1 An Ideational Whole 165
- 22.2 Ideational Wholes and Ideational and Perceptual Parts—I 165
- 22.3 Conditions of Plural Ideational Identity 167
- 22.4 Equivalent Ideational Wholes 171
- 22.5 Ideational Wholes and Ideational and Perceptual Parts—II 173
- 22.6 A Whole Consisting of Equivalent Ideational Parts 173
- 22.7 Ideational Wholes and Ideational and Perceptual Parts—III 174
- 22.8 Summary of Ideational Identity 175
- 23 Basic and Sophisticated Space, Meaning, Identity, and Work 178
- 23.1 Basic and Sophisticated Space 180
- 23.2 Basic and Sophisticated Meaning 181

- 23.3 Basic and Sophisticated Identity and Work 182
- 23.4 Essentialist Space 186
- 23.5 Essentialist Time 189
- 23.6 Sophisticated Identity, Meaning, and Work 190
- 23.7 The Space of Apprehension and the Field of Understanding 192
- 23.8 Memory and Meaning 196
- 23.9 Sophisticated and Virtual Identity 197

- 24 Haeceity* Artwork Identity: Preliminary Points 198
 - 24.1 Conceptual or Qualitative Sameness 198
 - 24.2 Conceptual or Qualitative Difference 199
 - 24.3 Logical and Conceptual Difference in Artwork Identity 200

- 25 Disseminated Identity 202
 - 25.1 Synchronic Dissemination 203
 - 25.2 Diachronic Dissemination 205
 - 25.3 Every Disseminated Object is Ideational, but not Every Ideational Object is Disseminated 210
 - 25.4 Ideational Plurality and Types and Disseminated Identity 211
 - 25.5 Disseminated Objects and Parts and Wholes 212
 - 25.6 Egalitarian Artworks and Disseminated Identity 214
 - 25.7 Perceptual Objects and Identity 216
 - 25.8 Qualitative Sameness and Difference of Disseminated Objects 218
 - 25.9 Interpretation and Dissemination 218
 - 25.10 Reasons for Speaking of the Equality of Kinds of Disseminated—and by Extension Distributed—Identity 219

- 26 Distributed Identity 221
 - 26.1 Distributed Objects and Artwork Identity 223
 - 26.2 Dissemination and Distribution 223
 - 26.3 Distributed Objects and Parts and Wholes 223
 - 26.4 Qualitative Sameness and Difference of Distributed Objects 224
 - 26.5 Interpretation and Distribution 224
 - 26.6 The Artist's Determination of Kinds of Identity 225

- 27 Disseminated And/Or Distributed Identity 226
 - 27.1 Artworks and Properties 230

- 28 Non-Disseminated and Non-Distributed Identity 231
 28.1 Non-Disseminated and Non-Distributed Identity and Parts and Wholes 231
- 29 Aesthetic Properties and Basic and Sophisticated Space 232
- 30 Homogeneous Identity 233
- 31 Heterogeneous Identity 234
- 32 Actuality and Possibility and Identity 236
- 33 Possibilities of Identity 239
- 34 Identity and Abstraction 241
- 35 Things that can Complicate Identity 243
- 36 Thisness and Essentialism 246
- 37 Egalitarian Identity 248
- 38 Summary of Essentialist Identity 249

PART 4

The Space of Apprehension and the Field of Understanding

- 39 Introduction 255
 39.1 The Space of Apprehension 256
 39.2 The Field of Understanding 257
 39.3 The Space of Apprehension and the Field of Understanding 257
 39.4 The Relevance of the Space of Apprehension and the Field of Understanding to Essentialist Identity 259
- 40 Circles, Matrices, and the Space of Apprehension 261
 40.1 Seeing and Understanding in the Space of Apprehension:
 Matrices 265
 40.2 The Rational Delimitation of the Space of Apprehension:
 Circles and Matrices 269

- 40.3 Words and Matrices 271
- 40.4 Space and Time and Perception and Understanding in Matrices of Language 272
- 40.5 Positive and Negative Spaces in Essentialist Matrices 273
- 40.6 The Relation of Essentialist Space to Subject and Object 275
- 40.7 Matters of Aesthetic Relevance 276

- 41 Language and Information in the Haecceities Series 277
 - 41.1 Matrices and Words and Thoughts 282
 - 41.2 The Language of Abstraction 284
 - 41.3 The Background Knowledge of Specifications 285
 - 41.4 The General Function of Specifications and the Space of Apprehension 285
 - 41.5 Visual Stasis and Conceptual Dynamism 286

- 42 Comprehending Specifications 287
 - 42.1 Meaning and Apprehension at a Time and at Different Times 290
 - 42.2 The Static and the Dynamic in Comprehension 291

- 43 The Field of Understanding 295
 - 43.1 The Field of Understanding and Sophisticated Haecceity Identity 296
 - 43.2 Consciousness and the Space of Apprehension 297
 - 43.3 The Relevance of Subject Knowledge to Essentialist Artworks 297
 - 43.4 Contrasts between, and Relations of, Space and its Apprehension 298
 - 43.5 The Space of Meaning as a Source of Artistic Material 298
 - 43.6 Meaning, Meanings, and Aesthetics 300
 - 43.7 Time and the Field of Understanding 301
 - 43.8 Form in Essentialism 304
 - 43.9 The Relation of the Space of Apprehension and the Field of Understanding 305

- 44 The Algorithm, Matrices, Parts and Wholes, and Relationships 306
 - 44.1 The Relation of the Static and the Dynamic 309
 - 44.2 Space, Time, and Relations 311
 - 44.3 Contrasts and Relations between Stability and Change 314
 - 44.4 Matrices as Networks of Relations 317

- 44.5 Matrices and Language 318
- 44.6 Sentential Order, Verbal Atmosphere, and Patterned Regularity 318
- 44.7 Locating Matrices in Space 320
- 44.8 Essentialist Matrices and Some Relations 321
- 44.9 Open Systems 322
- 45 Ideational Objects 323
 - 45.1 Incomplete and Deductive Specifications 325
 - 45.2 Transitions and Distinctions 327
 - 45.3 Process and Product 327
 - 45.4 Identity and Ideational Objects 328

PART 5

Essentialist Determination of Some Limits of Abstraction and Kinds of Radical Identity: Selections from the Haecceities Series with Commentary

- 46 The Language of Essentialism, Identity, and the Limits of Abstraction 336
 - 46.1 The Use of Specifications 336
 - 46.2 Essentialist Language and Aesthetic 338
 - 46.3 Numbering in the Haecceities Series 338
- 47 Haecceity 1.0.0 340
 - 47.1 Nothing, Something, and Everything 340
 - 47.2 Nothing and Something 342
 - 47.3 Something and Everything 350
 - 47.4 The Perceptual Object 356
- 48 Haecceity 1.1.0 365
 - 48.1 Solution of the Problems of Number, Distribution, Figure and Ground, and Asymmetry 366
 - 48.2 Ideational Object and Reflexive Intentional Event 369
- 49 Haecceity 1.2.0 372
 - 49.1 Shortest, Shorter, and Longer Versions 373
 - 49.2 The Relation of the Word 'Understood' to the Language Understood 373

- 49.3 Beginnings and Endings 374
- 49.4 Levels of Understanding 375
- 49.5 Heterogeneous Objects and Parts and Wholes 375
- 49.6 Novel Relations of Parts and Wholes 379
- 49.7 Finite and Infinite 380
- 49.8 Delimitation and Understanding 380
- 50 Haecceity 2.0.3 382
 - 50.1 Possibilities of Reference 382
 - 50.2 Present Dissemination and/or Distribution 384
 - 50.3 Ideational Requirements and Relations 384
 - 50.4 Reflexive Awareness and Type Dependence 386
 - 50.5 Symmetrical and Other Relations 387
- 51 Haecceity 2.9.0 389
 - 51.1 Requirements and Possibilities 390
 - 51.2 Language, Thought, and Perception 392
- 52 Haecceity 2.10.1 393
 - 52.1 The Determination and Reflection of Identity in Understanding—I 394
 - 52.2 The Interrelation of Perception and Conception 395
 - 52.3 The Determination and Reflection of Identity in Understanding—II 396
- 53 Haecceity 3.29.0 398
 - 53.1 Singling Something Out in Counterfactual Relation to Understanding 400
 - 53.2 Contrasts 400
 - 53.3 Phenomenal and Noumenal Relations 401
 - 53.4 Phenomenal Cancellation of Prior Possibility 403
 - 53.5 Creating and Filling a Phenomenal Hole 403
 - 53.6 Open Possibilities and Closed Actualities 404
 - 53.7 Kinds of Thisness: Traditional and Radical 405
 - 53.8 'This,' Thisness, and Place, and Possibilities of Understanding 406
 - 53.9 Parentheses 407

- 54 Haecceity 4.7.0 408
 54.1 A Problem with Completion? 408
 54.2 A Paradox of Apprehension 409
 54.3 A Paradox of Identity 413
 54.4 Mathematical and Psychological Time 414
- 55 Haecceity 7.3.0 416
 55.1 Haecceity 7.3.0 Completed with That 420
 55.2 Haecceity 7.3.0 Completed with How 429
- 56 Haecceity 12.0.0 433
 56.1 Kinds of Conscious Event Relevant to Artwork Identity 435
 56.2 Pertinence of Circular Language 436
 56.3 Solving the Problem of Number 436
 56.4 Characteristics of Circles 436

PART 6

Appendices

- Appendix 1: A Paradox of Identity? 441
 1.1 Artworks, Culture, and Haecceities 441
 1.2 Haecceity Artworks, Ideational Objects, and Haecceities
 445
- Appendix 2: Time and Understanding 450
- Index 455